

FDIC INSURANCE COVERAGE

By operation of federal law, beginning January 1, 2013, funds deposited in non-interest-bearing transaction accounts (including Interest on Lawyer Trust Accounts) will no longer receive unlimited deposit insurance coverage by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

Beginning January 1, 2013, all of a depositor's accounts at an insured depository institution, including all noninterest-bearing transaction accounts, will be insured by the FDIC up to the standard maximum deposit insurance amount ($250,000), for each deposit insurance ownership category.

Deposit Insurance Simplification Fact Sheet

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is an independent agency of the United States government that protects the funds depositors place in FDIC-insured institutions. FDIC deposit insurance is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States government. Since the FDIC was established in 1933, no depositor has ever lost a single penny of FDIC-insured funds.

There is no need for depositors to apply for FDIC insurance or even to request it; coverage is automatic. FDIC insurance covers funds in deposit accounts, including checking and savings accounts, money market deposit accounts and certificates of deposit. FDIC insurance does not cover other financial products that insured banks may offer such as stocks, bonds, mutual fund shares, life insurance policies, annuities or municipal securities.

On July 21, 2010, the current standard maximum deposit insurance amount (SDMIA) was permanently raised to $250,000. The FDIC insurance coverage limit applies per depositor, per insured depository institution for each account ownership category.

To ensure funds are fully protected, depositors should understand their coverage limits. The FDIC provides separate coverage for deposits held in different account ownership categories. The coverage limits shown in the chart below refer to the total of all deposits that an accountholder has in the same ownership categories at each FDIC-insured institution. The chart below assumes that all FDIC requirements are met. (For details on the requirements, go to www.fdic.gov/deposit/.)
